

Call for Submissions:
Journal of the
Georgia Public Health Association

The Journal of the Georgia Public Health Association (jGPHA) is an open access peer-reviewed journal published by the Georgia Public Health Association. jGPHA provides a platform for researchers, academicians, practitioners and students in the fields of public health, community health, and health education and promotion to impart and share knowledge and best practices. jGPHA includes research articles, case studies, literature reviews, study protocols, brief reports, book reviews, editorials and commentary.

The Editor invites original research and related papers in health promotion/disease prevention, community engagement, advocacy, public health policy, and best practices, for its Fall 2015 issue: Vol 5, No.2.

Submission Guidelines

All aspects of the submission and notification process will be handled electronically. Submissions must adhere to the paper formatting instructions and will be judged for quality and relevance through peer-reviewers.

Instructions to authors for submission are included on the GPHA website (www.gapha.org).
