

Environmental Health Specialist Training on Assessing & Permitting Mobile Food Service Units in Georgia

Wednesday, April 04, 2018 | 8:00am – 12:00pm | Jekyll Island Convention Center

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The Georgia Department of Public Health, Environmental Health Section will be providing this four hour training to Environmental Health professionals with responsibilities in permitting and inspecting Mobile Food Service Units. Participants will be able to engage in lectures, small group activities, and a table top exercise to heighten their knowledge of the necessary requirements to permit and inspect Mobile Food Units.

By the end of the Mobile Food Service Unit training, participants will be able to:

- Better evaluate a Mobile Food Unit's operational methods
- Examine a Mobile Food Unit's plan review documents in conjunction with its proposed menu to determine the unit's capabilities for operation
- Explain why collaboration efforts between counties is vital for permitting and inspecting Mobile Food Units
- Properly complete the inspection report forms

Instructor: Corey Millwood, REHS/RS – Georgia Department of Public Health; Environmental Health Section

Target Audience: Environmental Health Specialists, Directors, and Managers

REGISTRATION AND LOGISTICS

- DATE/TIME: Wednesday, April 04, 2018 | 8 a.m. – 12 p.m.
- LOCATION: Jekyll Island Convention Center
75 Beachview Dr N, Jekyll Island, GA 31527

CONTINUING EDUCATION UNITS

Environmental Health Specialists engaged in food service responsibilities are required to have Twenty (20) Continuing Education Unit hours every five years to maintain their Standardization certification. Four (4) hours of CEU credit will be awarded to Environmental Health Specialists that attend.

The workshop is free and limited to the first 50 EHS with confirmed (paid) registration to the GPHA annual conference and meeting. (A minimum of 15 registrations by February 15 is required for the course to be held).