Weekly Legislative Report #12

Adjournment Sine Die, March 29, 2018

A Walk-Off Homerun

Sometime Thursday evening, just as the General Assembly rounded the bases toward adjournment sine die, Nick Markakis hit a bottom-of-the-ninth, two out, walk-off homerun at SunTrust Park to cinch an opening day win for the Atlanta Braves. That event, however thrilling, was no more dramatic than the end-of-session agreement among legislative leadership and the Governor to fully fund the state's Quality Basic Education (QBE) formula for the first time in 16 years. The move gives K-12 schools across the state a major victory. The $167 million in new QBE funding came into play after the House and Senate had each already voted on separate versions of the FY 2019 budget. Gov. Deal raised the state's official revenue estimate by $194 million for the fiscal year that begins July 1, just as the conference committee was meeting to settle their differences. Thus, a committee of three members from each house approved the additional expenditures, which were then rubber-stamped by the full General Assembly.

Rural Georgia Comes Out a Winner

In many rural areas the school system is the largest employer and economic engine; thus, full funding for the QBE formula will make a major impact on their local economies. But the General Assembly really went to bat for non-urban areas in numerous other ways this session as well. Legislators spent much of last summer/fall traveling across the state on three different study committees. They translated what they gleaned from those meetings into various pieces of legislation.

Lawmakers created a new position in the Department of Economic Development to be sure that agency doesn't focus all of its efforts on the easier-to-sell urban areas. The new Deputy Commissioner for Rural Georgia slot has already been filled by Amy Carter, a former state representative and rural advocate from Valdosta. Eleven airports serving rural areas will be able to extend the length of their runways to accommodate corporate jets thanks to $26 million in the budget. Another budget item aimed toward economic development is $1.7 million to fund a newly created Center for Rural Prosperity and Innovation. A separate Rural Health Innovation Center is to be established, as well, along with a Health Coordination and Innovation Council. The latter two entities will pull down an additional $1.9 million in funding. Plus, short-line rail owners, who link many farmers and the kaolin industry to major transportation corridors, were given a tax break for dollars spent on improving their tracks.

Legislators also raised the tax credit available for making contributions to rural hospitals to 100% of the donation and allowed Sub-Chapter S Corporations to participate in the program. Physicians willing to work in underserved areas will be able to take advantage of a more expansive grant program to help them cover malpractice insurance premiums.

Rural Broadband

An effort to incentivize the deployment of high-speed broadband to more of rural Georgia was one of the more thoroughly debated issues of the session. After numerous amendments and substitutes, SB 402 became an omnibus bill, also containing the essence of HB 887 and SB 232. The legislation clarifies that Electric Membership Corporations (EMCs) have legal authority to provide broadband service, but cannot cross-subsidize between the electrical and communications components. The bill clears the way for using interstate and state highway rights-of-way to lay broadband cable and directs profits derived from such to the Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for grants to promote broadband deployment throughout the state.

The state Board of Economic Development is charged with designating Georgia Broadband Ready Communities. The OneGeorgia Authority is authorized to fund broadband infrastructure and connections. The Georgia Technology Authority (GTA) must create a statewide broadband deployment plan and provide technical assistance to other state agencies. All state agencies and local governments are required to cooperate with GTA. Local governments must assist DCA in creating a map of “unserved” areas of Georgia by January 1, 2019.

Income Tax Break

Rural, suburban and urban residents will all benefit from the reduction in the state income tax from 6% to 5.75% the first year and down to 5.5% the second year if approved by the General Assembly. The rate reduction was passed in response to new federal tax laws expected to alter the way residents claim tax deductions. Without the rate cut, Georgia would have reaped an expected windfall in taxes.

Deal’s Legacy

As a final puzzle piece in Gov. Deal’s effort to overhaul the state’s criminal justice system, a new law, SB 407, cleared all hurdles (and there were significant objections early on) to loosen requirements for cash bail by giving judges the freedom to consider a defendant’s ability to pay. The bill would also give local authorities more leeway to issue citations in lieu of arrests for nonviolent offenses.

Elderly Protection Bills Successful

Advocates for the Aging Community scored well this session, too. A top priority for the elderly was met with the passage of SB 406. It requires comprehensive FBI background checks, including fingerprinting, for direct-care employees of nursing homes, personal care homes, assisted living communities, private home care providers and adult day care centers. Another protection bill, HB 635, was approved early last week and would facilitate the formation of multi-agency teams to coordinate efforts in dealing with adult abuse. HB 803, which also awaits the Governor's signature, is aimed at fighting trafficking of elderly or disabled people in order to steal their safety-net benefits. In the future, the first $25,000 will be waived when the state seeks reimbursement for benefits from the estate of a deceased Medicaid recipient under SB 370, which passed. A bill to make certain relatives eligible to be appointed defacto custodians of children, HB 497, passed only the House before adjournment, but is expected to be back next session.

Some Health-Related Bills Faltered

The effort to reward medical school preceptors with tax credits fell short. Preceptors are practicing doctors, APRNs and physician assistants who train medical students in a clinical setting. The tax credit would be only for preceptors who are not otherwise paid for their on-site teaching. This appeared to be an issue caught up in House-Senate politics rather than policy differences. Expect to see a version of HB 301 to be back next year. Renee Unterman's legislation to move the state Board of Nursing out of the Secretary of State's office was attached to HB 301, but blocked in the House. (SB 334)

Two tobacco-related bills also failed. HB 877 would have cut the sales tax in half for modified-risk tobacco products. HB 835 would simplify obtaining temporary permits to sell tobacco for special events.

Several bills aimed at eroding and eliminating Certificate of Need (CON) regulations for healthcare providers were introduced this session. Only one passed and it was part of the rural health initiatives mentioned above (HB 769). It provides for micro-hospitals (2-7 beds) without a CON, but only when an existing facility is purchased by a hospital in a contiguous county and located in a county with less than 50,000 population. However, the issue is far from dead in the long run. SR 1063 creating the 15-member Senate Study Committee on CON Reform passed, and that committee will hold hearings on the topic over the interim, filing a report by December 1. House HHS Health Committee Chairwoman Sharon Cooper has also called for discussions between opposing sides of the issue prior to next session.

Retrospective ER Policies

With the passage of HR 1194 there will be a five-member House Study Committee meeting during the interim to tackle the question of Retrospective Emergency Room Policies. The committee will consider situations such as when Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield implemented a policy not to reimburse costs associated with non-emergent visits to the ER, even if the covered patient considered the symptoms, such as chest pains, life-threatening.

Driving with Your Phone

A ban on holding your cell phone while driving passed in the form of HB 673. Here's what's PROHIBITED:

- Supporting your communications device with any portion of your body (no iPad on your lap)
- Sending or reading texts, emails, snapchats, etc., while holding your communications device
- Watching a video or movie other than your GPS screen
- Recording a video
- Holding your phone while stopped at a traffic signal

Here's what's ALLOWED:

- Speaking or texting while using hands-free technology
- Using your GPS system
- Holding your phone to report an emergency or hazardous road condition
- Emergency personnel using a phone while driving, if performing official duties
- Holding your phone while legally parked

More issues that PASSED:

- A huge change in management structure, approach and branding to mass transit for the greater Metro Atlanta area to be labeled "The ATL" (HB 930)
- Enforcement measures for a sales tax for online sales (HB 61)
- Reform of dated adoption policies (Religious freedom amendments were unsuccessful) (HB 159)
- Allowing lottery winners of $250,000 and more to remain anonymous (SB 331)
- Allowing the creation of a new city, Eagles Landing, by carving out the tax-rich business section of another city, Stockbridge (SB 263)
- Restaurants may serve cocktails as early as 11:00 a.m. on Sunday in communities that approve such by referendum (package stores excluded) (SB 17)
- Department of Public Health will create a regime where hospital perinatal centers can be designated by level of care provided (HB 909)
- Post-traumatic stress disorder and intractable pain were added to the state's medical marijuana program. (HB 65)
- Give local communities more control over the use of fireworks via noise ordinances (HB 419)

More issues that FAILED:

- Replacing Georgia's electronic voting machines with a paper-based system
- Requirements for prosecutors and police to determine whether defendants are in the country illegally
- Several bills dealing with "surprise billing" by medical providers failed to pass
- Raising the age to 30 for filing lawsuits by people abused as children
- Limiting early voting on Sundays and forcing polls to close in the city of Atlanta an hour earlier, at 7 p.m. to match the rest of the state

- Making access to guns more difficult for Georgians with mental illnesses
- Allowing religious adoption agencies to turn away gay couples
- Regulation of online fantasy sports games
- Higher pensions for state legislators
- Limitations on insurance companies' use of "step-therapies," whereby patients are expected to fail multiple times on inexpensive drugs before trying more expensive prescriptions
- A needle-exchange program that would provide clean needles for drug addicts
- An effort to attack the opioid crisis through prohibiting provider kick-back schemes failed as many legislators found the requirements too onerous on legitimate healthcare providers
- Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact (Psypact) that would allow out-of-state companies to provide telepsychology services in Georgia

A Few Stats

For the statistically minded, here's why we must be selective of which bills we track and report on. During the 2017-2018 term of the General Assembly, the 180 members of the House introduced 1,076 bills. The 56 members of the Senate introduced 495 bills. There were 1,697 House Resolutions compared to 1,135 in the Senate. Most resolutions simply commend a group or person (Miss Georgia Watermelon, etc.). A resolution does not carry the force of law, but it is the vehicle used to create study committees and to put constitutional amendments on the general election ballot.

The Next 40 Days – The Real Finish Line

All of the successful bills still have one important step left -- the Governor's signature. The Georgia Constitution allows the Governor 40 calendar days following the General Assembly's adjournment in which to sign or veto a bill, or it becomes law without his signature. That makes May 8th the deadline for Gov. Deal to act on legislation this year. In the meantime, his legal and policy staff will be reviewing the final language of bills, looking for unintended consequences, outright mistakes and policy differences. Deal also has an option to veto line items in the budget, but he hasn't had any significant arguments with the General Assembly regarding the budget this year.
